

Carlsberg

Linac is the key provider of choice

Carlsberg is one of the largest breweries and one of the most famous brands in the world, universally known to consumers as “Probably the best lager in the world”.

Linac has been working in partnership with Carlsberg for nine years. Linac is the provider of choice for an extensive range of management development and personal effectiveness training across the business.

Linac has designed a suite of highly effective training courses and events. All courses are fully aligned to the business and help to reinforce values and desired behaviours. Training covers: performance management, influencing skills, handling conflict, assertiveness skills, change management, creative thinking, management essentials, time management, project management, interviewing skills and presentation skills.

Training is highly practical and centres on building self awareness and individual capability and confidence. Key to success is the immediate linkage made back to the role and workplace and on helping delegates consolidating learning and taking action.
